PREFACE

THE ROBERT D. FISHER MANUAL OF VALUABLE & WORTHLESS SECURITIES, Volume XII, is an improvement over our previous eleven volumes. It contains over 10,500 incorporated and unincorporated companies that have been thoroughly investigated. Where the securities have been found to be worthless, the listing in each case has been reduced to one line, giving the name of the company, state and date of incorporation, or date of certificate, and the date the stock became worthless, or when found to be worthless. It should not be necessary for one to take from ten minutes to a half-hour or more reading through a long report to arrive at the conclusion that a security is worthless, when it can be listed in one line, and the reader can arrive at the same conclusion at a glance. If the complete reports had been listed in this volume, it would contain over 2,000 pages, and the cost prohibitive.
